What's New and Worth Knowing

Dance of Thanks to the Sea

At golden hour on the private beach, the resort performs the Dance of Thanks to the Sea, a ritual inspired by Langkawi's seafaring traditions. The dance reflects the island's long relationship with the ocean, symbolising gratitude, protection and abundance. It remains one of the more distinctive cultural moments of a stay.

Seasonal Timing

Langkawi can be worth considering outside traditional peak travel periods. Rainfall often arrives in shorter bursts rather than lasting all day, and the island can feel greener, tropically fresh and sometimes quieter, particularly for longer villa stays.

Marine Conservation

The resort's marine biologist leads a sea cucumber nursery supporting local populations of gamat, traditionally used in Malaysian medicine. Guests can learn about the species and the pressures they face, and join guided kayak trips to release mature sea cucumbers back into surrounding waters.

Fam Trip Notes From Our Team

"I liked the laid back feel of the resort, service is genuine and unobtrusive. It's super luxurious but you also feel at home and relaxed very quickly. The rainforest rooms are perfect for relaxing and listening to the sounds of the jungle, we had a hornbill come and visit every morning! I also liked the location, ideal for switching off beach days but also well located for getting out to explore the island, local bars and activities."
